

CADY APPOINTS SHANER AND McABEE

FORMER SAFETY DIRECTOR, LATTER NEW SERVICE CHIEF

Mayor-Elect Announces Appointments to Other Official Boards as "Christmas Present;" McLaughlin Replaces Gearhart on Civil Service Commission; Safety Service Directors Replace Crist and Lyle, Hodges' Aides.

Mayor-elect William B. Cady announced, Saturday, that he has appointed Lee T. Shaner, E. Union-st., as his safety director, and William McAbee, 227 E. Mount-st., as his service director. Shaner succeeds J. Wallace Crist and McAbee replaces A. J. Lyle, appointees of Mayor B. T. Hodges, on the second Monday of January.

Mr. Cady's announcement came as a Christmas present, as he declared two weeks ago it would be. Both appointees are Democrats.

Mr. Shaner has served as a member of several boards and is director of the Pumpkin. His duties will include supervision of the police department, and Berger hospital, and administration of poor relief as far as city funds are concerned. The safety director's post is one of Circleville's most important offices.

ON RELIEF WORK
Mr. McAbee, a former engineer and cannery factory manager, is in charge of county relief work. He has been receiving a salary from the commission since his appointment. His duties will include distribution of food during the winter.

Mr. Crist and Mr. Lyle were both proved efficient and conscientious in their work. Other appointments announced by the mayor-elect include: board of health, the city commission, the library board, trustees of the sinking fund, and the board of health.

DRY GOODS STORE, Veteran of 70 Years, Closes
One of Circleville's prominent retail establishments that has existed for many years closes its doors tonight for the last time; it is the Jeffries and Colville store, S. Court-st.

The store has been directed for 22 years by Thomas F. Jeffries and Robert G. Colville until the recent death of the former. It was then decided to suspend business.

An interesting history is related concerning the room now occupied by this firm as the first dry goods store was started by Dr. Pierce in the 1860's and since that time such a store has occupied this location, with several changes being made in ownership.

WMAS WEATHER IS UNCERTAIN
Recalling the famous weather forecast for the inaugural ceremonies of President William H. Taft in March, 1908, when the weather bureau announced five days in advance "a grand day," and then missed completely, Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather observer, declined to prognosticate Saturday, about the weather for Christmas Day.

"It is too difficult to say two days in advance what we can expect," he said.

84 BELOW!
EDMONTON, Alta., Dec. 23.—When it gets cold in Alaska, it's cold!

Radio messages received here today reported what is believed to be a world's record low temperature at Tagish, a lonely trading post on the Yukon, with the thermometer frozen at 84 below zero.

Virtually all stations on the Yukon, the messages said, were experiencing temperatures as low as 60 and 70 below zero.

Yours for Service,
WILLIAM B. CADY,
Mayor-elect.

TOY DISTRIBUTION TO BE HELD SUNDAY
Firemen Will Give Toys To Poor Children of City At Memorial Hall.

Weather permitting, members of the fire department will begin the distribution of the toys which they have painted and repaired at the engine house, Sunday afternoon.

Many poor children will be made happy by the presentation of the toys which are on display at the fire department.

The final list of toy contributors follows: Mrs. Frank Kline, Jr., Joe Lynch, Dudley and Ann Rader, W. T. Grant store, Tommy and Connie Mettler, G. C. Murphy Co., Barton Deming, Mrs. Mary, Donald Jackson, Annette, Barbara, Charles, Ned, and John, Carl Bach, David, Gloria, Harry, Park, Ann, and Lawrence Goodman.

BIRTHS
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips, of Dutch Hollow, announce the birth of a son Friday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hickey, 124 W. Water-st., Friday.

Christmas

(AN EDITORIAL)

The best Christmas editorial ever written is in the Bible. It tells, in beautiful simplicity, a changeless story. There is the star moving across the heavens and fixing itself finally as a diadem above a Bethlehem stable. There are the wise men of the East, first of hundreds of millions to bend before the power and beauty of the Christian ideal. There are the shepherds in the fields, for whom the veil of eternity lifts so that the mortal sees the immortal choir pouring "good tidings" upon him. There is, in fact, for the Christian, the most beautiful, the most significant and the most necessary story of all history.

In its crowning moment the narrative pronounces this superb, matchless benediction:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace . . ."

The sentence epitomizes the Christian faith and sums up Christ-like living. Glory to God is exemplified in an upright life, peace on earth is the expression of a sublime and sensitive humanity. The world struggles bravely toward the goal, and each passing age sees the spreading consciousness of generous conduct. "Man's inhumanity to man" yields to the mellowing grace of civilized society.

Civilized society is most intense in the family group, focused today around a common remembrance, however far scattered its members may be. It is of the genius of the Christmas season that men far away from the hearthstone can sniff the odors of the past, and snatch from the vanished years a wisp of experience, a flavor of recollection, that holds the heart steady and the mind clear to those affections which irrevocably bind us together.

The home at Christmas is the symbol of that peace and open-hearted living for which the world so wistfully seeks. The gifts, the gay cries of happiness, the sweet union of kindness together form the cradle of mankind's better destiny.

It is a wonderful story, whose words sing down the corridors of time reclaiming and inspiring countless generations. No other narrative has unlocked, so swiftly the door to the human heart; none other is able to lift our imagination so tenderly into universal communion.

WATER COMPANY LOSES FIRST ROUND AT WASHINGTON C. H.

Judge H. M. Rankin Delivers Sweeping Opinion Effecting Suit in Which Ohio Water Service Co., Asks $10,200 For Year's Rental of Fire Hydrants; Similar Situation Here.

The Ohio Water Service Co., which serves Circleville, has lost the first round in its fight with the city of Washington C. H. to collect a past due bill of $10,200, which it claims is due from the city for use of fire hydrants from April 1, 1932 to the same date this year.

The decision of the first round came Friday when Common Pleas Judge H. M. Rankin of the Fayette-co seat delivered an opinion which is expected to go to the Ohio Supreme Court for final settlement, inasmuch as it concerns contracts entered into between public utility concerns and municipalities.

Judge Rankin held that unless such a contract is accompanied by a certificate showing that the amount required to meet the terms of the contract "has been lawfully appropriated for such purpose and is in the treasury or in procession of collection to the credit of an appropriate fund free from any previous incumbrances," it is invalid.

Circleville, too, owes the water company a large sum, but it has avoided suits by making partial payments. According to Miss Lillian Young, city auditor, the city now owes the water concern $10,475.00. This is for the rental of fire hydrants from Oct. 1, 1932 to the end of 1933.

A payment of $3,000 was made to the water company in September of this year. Shortage of funds in the city treasury has made it impossible to pay more. The city pays the water company $8,882 per year for fire hydrant rental, Miss Young said.

Federal Judge Dead
CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—Funeral arrangements were being made here today for Judge Smith Hickenlooper of the sixth district U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Judge Hickenlooper died last night shortly after he was stricken while attending a dance at the Cincinnati Country club.

THOMAS IS FINED $100 AND COSTS
Driving Rights Suspended Six Months For Operating Auto While Intoxicated.

William J. Thomas, Fairview-ave, was fined $100 and costs, Friday afternoon, when Judge J. W. Adkins found him guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Thomas was arrested Thursday evenings by Deputies Bob Armstrong and Miller Fissell after he drove his automobile into a ditch on Route 56. Lester Quince, a juvenile, arrested with Thomas, was released.

Thomas' right to drive an automobile was also deprived for six months by the court.

A charge of illegal possession of liquor was not placed against the man.

Prosecutor Ray W. Davis presented the state's case and George G. Adkins acted as counsel for Thomas.

FDR ENVISIONS STABILIZATION GOLD, SILVER

Believes International Monetary Agreement of Bi Metallism Coming

INFLATIONISTS GLAD

New Silver Policy Causes Rise in Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Roosevelt hopes and believes that out of the confusion now existing in the world monetary situation will emerge eventually an international agreement for a bi-metallic standard of money, with silver bearing a stabilized relationship to gold.

When that can be accomplished is a matter of speculation; probably not soon, and probably not before the whole world is "off gold."

France and a few continental countries like Holland and Switzerland are still "on gold," although in a somewhat theoretical sense. Should France abandon the gold standard completely, as Britain and the United States have done, it would be signal for the smaller countries to do likewise. Then the time would be considered ripe for an international monetary conference to attempt stabilization. The whole world would then be in the same boat and could start from scratch on the basis of a new understanding.

Inevitably, any such agreement would have to take into account the world's indebtedness, particularly the governmental debts that Europe contracted in the United States to finance the World War.

The administration is well pleased with the effects of the newly announced silver policy, under which the domestic price for the white metal is pegged at last minute rush next week.

Thus far only about 800 plates have been sold to auto owners in the city, which usually uses 3,000 tags. An average of 6,000 are used in the county each year.

Mr. Hammel's offices are located in the Knights of Pythias building, N. Court-st., and his office hours at 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

He said Saturday that truck owners should appear at his office with weight bills which they have received from the scales of coal yards or elevators in the city. They will file a certificate of application for a license and will receive the plates some time after Jan. 1.

JAPS JUBILANT, BIRTH OF HEIR

Seven Pound Son Born to Emperor and Empress Cause For Celebration.

TOKYO, Dec. 23.—The greatest celebration in Japanese history was staged throughout the country today in honor of the birth of an heir to the Japanese throne, the oldest dynasty in the world. The new prince, a seven-pound, three-ounce infant, is regarded by 100,000,000 imperial subjects as a direct descendant of the sun goddess.

Disappointed four times previously when the Empress Nagako gave birth to daughters, who cannot succeed to the throne, Emperor Hirohito and his subject, each in his own way, gave way to unbounded rejoicing at this long-awaited event.

The emperor will grant widespread amnesty to prisoners, particularly those guilty of political offenses. All awaiting execution, regardless of their crimes, are expected to have their sentences commuted to life imprisonment. Reduction of all prison terms are expected.

The emperor also announced he would make large donations to orphanages, homes, schools and patriotic societies. Honors will be conferred extensively in recognition of the great event.

The public, kept informed of every detail by radio bulletins broadcast every few minutes, was buoyant as it never has been before. Huge, colorful parades were held in every city, town and village in the country.

Return From Funeral
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shride and Charles Butts of near Tarlton, returned Friday from Delaware where they attended the funeral of Frank Butts, who died of a heart attack. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Shride and Mr. Butts.

Only Fourth of Auto Tags Taken, Hammel Reports
With not quite a fourth of license tags yet distributed in Circleville, George C. Hammel, local registrar, urged Saturday that auto owners avoid the usual last minute rush next week.

TWO ESCAPE INJURY IN WRECK TODAY
Automobiles Collide In Walnut Creek Bridge, North of City.

No one was injured at 7:45 a. m. Saturday when two autos collided on the Walnut-creek bridge, Scioto trail, north of Circleville.

Howard Davis, an employee of the Miller Rubber Co., Akron, was driving south enroute to Portsmouth, and L. C. Hydel of Chillicothe, driving a Chevrolet coupe, was going north when the collision occurred. Davis sustained a painful bruise on the head.

Deputy Sheriff Bryan J. Custer investigated the wreck.

Statehouse, Columbus, Dec. 23.—Affixing his signature to the Mosier-Lawrence liquor control bill, Governor George White today wrote "Hiss" to the era of prohibition in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Like a ship finally making port after riding for days at the mercy of the storm's fury, the Mosier-Lawrence state monopoly liquor control bill was to reach the governor for his signature today, bringing legal liquor to Ohio before Christmas.

Gov. George White promised to sign the bill and name the members of the liquor commission during the day. Package liquor will (Continued on Page Five)

BROKERS' SPY IN CAPITOL?
Sen. Thomas, Oklahoma, Asks White House Investigation; Receives Telegrams.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Belief that mysterious spy and "tip-off" man is betraying closely guarded secrets of the Roosevelt administration, to the profit of brokers and speculators, grew today in Congressional circles as charges accumulated that a "leak" occurred in announcement of the President's silver buying program.

Senator Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, urged an immediate investigation into the charges he launched by the White House.

Thomas revealed the Washington manager for a New York brokerage house called him on the telephone at midnight Sunday to say "there is something big in silver on tap" and to seek detailed information, which was not forthcoming.

A Spokane, Wash., resident declared in a telegram to a middle western senator that brokers in his city were informed regarding the executive order, and the new price for silver, several hours before the official announcement.

Advised by newspapermen of the reports, the President said at his semi-weekly press conference he thought the contents of the proclamation had been kept pretty tight.

OHIO STATE ALUMNI MEETS FRIDAY EVE
John B. Fullen, Alumni Secretary of University To Be Principal Speaker.

Plans are being completed for the annual meeting of Pickaway-co Ohio State University alumni to be held at Hanley's Tea Room, Friday, Dec. 29, at 6:30 p. m.

John B. Fullen, alumni secretary of the university and one of the most prominent figures on the campus, will be the principal speaker.

M. C. Warren, Pinckney-st., is president, and J. O. Eagleson, secretary, of the group. Reservations should be made with either of these officers by Wednesday, Dec. 27.

Did You Know
By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT the Circleville Straight-Out Club, an organization designed to promote independent thinking in political matters, was started in this city in September, 1841.

George Fickardt was the first president. Other officers were: Mahlon Groce, vice-president, and N. W. Doddridge, secretary. The club had its first meeting Sept. 6, 1841, when the organization was completed. The following excerpts are taken from a resolution passed at the first meeting:

"The inculcation of sound political principles and the dissemination of a general knowledge of the principles upon which are based our government and the social system under which we live, are necessary for the preservation and perpetuation of that liberty which our fathers purchased with their toil and their blood, and left us a legacy."

"As no more efficient nor interesting means can be resorted to, in the furtherance of this object, we shall assemble ourselves together at frequent intervals to interchange views, feelings, known truths and facts in relation to the past and present condition of the country."

Another organization, the Circleville Tippecanoe Club, was formed at the same time and had weekly meetings in W. Main-st. This club supported the Whig principles of government and took its name from the famous slogan used in the campaign of William Henry Harrison in 1840. "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too." Meetings of the Tippecanoe club were climaxed with the serving of hard cider.

That the first corn planter in Pickaway-co was brought here in January, 1842, by Calvin Olds of Montpelier, Vermont, a nephew of Dr. Edson B. Olds of this city. The younger Olds was the inventor of a double corn planter which was widely used at the time. The machine was rather expensive and a number were sold to Pickaway-co farmers soon after the planter made its first appearance. According to The Herald of the time, the planter operated as follows: The seeds of corn were dropped by small cups, placed upon the periphery of a small wheel, which revolved around as the machine moved forward. The cups passed through the seeds, dipped them up, and as the wheel passed over, the cups emptied into a funnel which conveyed the corn to the furrow in the ground.

That the removal of the octagonal court house from the middle of the old circle at Court and Main-sts was completed in May, 1841. Although looked upon today as a landmark which would have been well worth preserving, newspapers of the time commended the removal of the first court building. The Herald of the time had the following to say: "Those public-spirited and enterprising individuals, Messrs. Innovation, Improvement, and Reform, by and with the advice and consent of the county authorities and several other gentlemen, are at work tearing away and moving the old octagonal court house at this place—a fact with which we apprehend no person in the habit of frequenting Circleville, will be likely to find fault. Court is being held in the Farmers' Exchange Block until the new court house is erected."

That a movement was begun in Circleville in 1842 to make Sunday more sacred. Complaint was made that the running of boats and prosecution of labor on other water courses and railroads were unnecessary violations of the traditional belief that the observance of the Sabbath was a Divine Christian institution. An organization was perfected to induce merchants and manufacturers of Circleville to halt transportation of merchandise into the city on Sunday.

Church Programs to Observe Christmas
Circleville churches are planning numerous events to observe Christmas. Choirs have been practicing for several weeks in anticipation of ministers have prepared special sermons and primary and junior departments are ready to present pageants and other entertainments, Sunday and Monday.

The programs follow with other church announcements found on the church page.

ST. PHILIP'S EPISCOPAL
Three services are planned, Sunday by St. Philip's Episcopal church, Rev. L. C. Sherburne, rector, the first being the morning prayer and sermon at 10:15 a. m., the second being the service of the church school at 6:30 p. m., and the third the service of the Holy Communion beginning at 11:30 p. m.

Mrs. Roland Heiskell, director of the choir, announces the following program for the morning service: Organ prelude, Mrs. George Bentley; Processional, Hark, the Herald Angel Sing, by the choir and congregation; Venite, Exultemus Domino, Abbot, by the choir; Gloria and benediction by the choir; Come All Ye Faithful, choir and congregation; solo, Softly the Night Has Fallen, Parks, by Mrs. Heiskell; recessional, O Little Town of Bethlehem, by the choir and congregation; organ postlude by Mrs. Bentley.

The night service program is:

The Church Invites You

HUMANITY'S FIRST GIFT

Jesus was humanity's first Christmas gift sent with the love of the Father. Jesus is the splendor of the Christmas star, the beauty of the Christmas message, the heart of the Christmas spirit. He is our hope, our Teacher, our Exemplar who counts us worthy to represent Him in the grace and glory of recurring Christmas times. His mission and His majesty. His humanity and His divinity are the sacred significance of the Christmas story.

No Christmas celebration is complete unless it leads to Bethlehem, to worship of the Holy child. Bethlehem means "House of Bread." Your Bethlehem is the church, where we find that which is the staff of our soul's life. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH ON CHRISTMAS SUNDAY?

A VISION OF WORLD PEACE

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 11:1-9.
GOLDEN TEXT—They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. Isaiah 11:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peace on Earth. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Prince of Peace.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What does Christmas mean? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Christian Christmas.

Isaiah does not set forth merely an ideal for a world at strife. The fact is revealed that Jesus Christ shall come back to the earth and establish a kingdom, and remove from men's hearts the cause of strife. Instead of a vision of "World Peace," a better statement of the subject would be "The Universal Reign of Jesus Christ."

Who is This King? (v. 1).

1. He is the Son of Man. "A child is born (Isa. 9:6). The one who shall reign over all the world as king is a real human being. This eternal Son of God, incorporated with the human race in order to be its Saviour and Lord, shall come of David's line.

2. He is the Son of God. "A son is given" (Isa. 9:6). As the eternal Son of God he was not "born," but "given." This son "given" is the "Mighty God," "Everlasting Father." Being such he will take the "government upon his shoulders," that is, he will assume all authority. He is "Wonderful." The world will marvel at him. He is the all-wise "Counselor." Therefore there will be no mistake made in the conduct of the affairs of the kingdom. He is the "Prince of Peace."

11. The King's Qualification (v. 2). The king which the world needs and for which it longs must have superhuman wisdom and power. There shall rest upon him:

1. "The Spirit of the Lord." 2. "The spirit of wisdom," giving insight into all things, human and divine.

3. "The spirit of understanding," giving him the ability to use that which is highest and best.

4. "The spirit of counsel," enabling him intelligently to plan and administer the affairs of the kingdom.

5. "The spirit of might"—ability to execute his plans.

6. "The spirit of knowledge," enabling him to perceive the will of God in all things.

7. "The fear of the Lord," causing him to be reverential and obedient.

11. The Character of the King's Reign (vv. 3-5).

1. "He shall not judge at the sight of his eyes." His knowledge is perfect. None can deceive him.

2. "Not remove after the hearing of the ear." The word "reproof" means decide. His decisions, therefore, will be on the basis of fact, not hearsay.

3. "With righteousness shall he judge the poor." When Christ reigns as king the poor shall get justice.

4. "Shall smite the earth with the rod of his might." By the "earth" is meant the wicked inhabitants.

5. "He shall be girded with righteousness and faithfulness." He is absolutely righteous and will faithfully carry out all his words.

IV. The issue of the King's Reign (vv. 6-10).

Here is a picture of the glorious golden age for which the great and wise men of all ages have longed and looked. There will then be peace both between men and animals.

1. "The wolf shall dwell with the lamb" (v. 6). The word "dwell" suggests intimacy as if the lamb should receive the wolf into its home.

2. "The leopard shall lie down with the kid" (v. 6).

3. "The calf and the young lion and the fatling together" (v. 6). They are so gentle and kind that a little child shall lead them.

4. "The cow and the bear shall feed" (v. 7).

5. "The lion shall eat straw" (v. 7).

6. "The sucking child shall play on the hole of the asp" (v. 8).

7. "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord" (v. 9). The issue of this glorious reign shall be the attraction of the Gentile nations (vv. 10-12). This is the real purpose of the coming kingdom.

JOY WORSHIP
The map of our life is indeed a picture puzzle, but faith will fix every part into its proper place. "All things are for your sakes." The universe exists for the saints, and there is a divine purpose in every providence for God's children. And the believer knows that life here is followed by life more abundant; vision here, by face-to-face view of Christ; Joy here, by a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. Possession, position, and perfection are the Joy words of the believer.—F. W. Ainsley.

CHRISTMAS IN SPAIN

An old and picturesque custom commemorating the wanderings of Joseph and Mary on Christmas eve in search of shelter is still observed in Spain. Children carrying images of Mary and Joseph lead the way, followed by a crowd of people, all bearing tapers, who halt at door after door to ask a mission. There is no response until the procession arrives at the church, when the spokesman of the crowd is asked, "Who there?"

"It is Mary, the Queen of Heaven who begs a place to shelter her head," he replies, "the night dark and cold and she is a wanderer from far Galilee."

The door is swung open and the procession enters, going up a staircase to the stable of Bethlehem where there is a manger dimly lighted by an old lantern. Here all kneel in prayer, reciting the litany, after which a child with wings fastened to his shoulders makes his way through the crowd bearing an image representing the Holy Child. He lays his burden in the crib, tapers are lighted and carols of welcome sung to the Christ child.

Discussion on Questions

What are some of the causes of war?
How produce a peace-inclined nation?
What can individual citizens do to produce world peace?
What are the necessary steps to end war?

What effect has nationalism on the world peace program?
What are good reasons for the United States not joining in the League of Nations and the World Court? What reasons for being affiliated with these organizations?

Calvin Coolidge said, "Peace will come when there is a realization that only under a reign of law, on righteousness and support by the religious conviction, the brotherhood of man, can the be any hope of a complete and satisfying life; parchment will fall; the sword will fall; it is only the spiritual nature of man that is triumphant."

Lesson Prayer, "Help us to exalt Christ during this Christmas season and to crown Him in our hearts as the Prince of Peace."

Christmas changes the mood of the world. It revives the pulse, refreshes the fountain of philanthropy and awakens the voice of praise.

Christmas stands for the realization of those burning hopes which made the heroic men of the past.

A man who is habitually mean, selfish, narrow is a man without Christmas in his soul.

'PREMIERE'

ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

Copyright - 1932, by KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Attending the premiere of her latest motion picture, beautiful Leni Luneska, the star, is confronted by a shabby, emaciated man, who emerges from the crowd crying, "Leni! It is I, Karl Kruger. Do you want me to tell the whole world?" Leni turns white. She tells the man she will talk with him inside. Lucky Cavanaugh, a gambler, fascinated by Leni's beauty, saunters into the theatre after Kruger. He prevents Kruger from making a scene and has him placed in a private office until after the show. Cavanaugh then bribes an usher to seat him in Leni's box. During the performance Douglas Gates, Leni's elderly escort, proposes to her. She is tempted to accept him to get away from everything. In the office next to Kruger's, thieves are robbing the safe. Leni leaves her box and goes to Kruger. He taunts her with, "It is not pleasant to have a starying bum hanging around—not when he happens to be your husband!" He wants recognition as Leni's husband and all that goes with it. She refuses but he says he will wait for her to think it over.

CHAPTER FIVE

With the return of Leni to the box, Cavanaugh lost all interest in the story unfolding on the screen. Gates had moved over to the seat next the rail and was sitting utterly quiet with his head dropped slightly forward.

The fragrance of Leni's perfume preceded her into the box. Without removing her cloak, she sank into the inside chair beside Gates. Cavanaugh was so close to her that he could easily have reached out and touched her shoulder.

The color had not come back to her face; he sensed the painful beating of her heart. When she leaned toward Gates, Cavanaugh heard her disjointed utterance.

"If I marry you . . . no matter what scandal . . . protect me from the whole world? Douglas . . ."

She waited for an answer, but none came. The squareness had left the man's shoulders; he was relaxed and a trifle rounded. His breathing was deep and steady.

This was the greatest ironic tragedy that ever happened to Leni Luneska.

A man had drowsed away in the midst of his wooing.

Tears formed in her eyes and one of them glistened on her cheek.

Of the four thousand people in the theatre, Lucky Cavanaugh was the only one to see and to understand. Slowly his hand reached forward and grasped one of hers in the darkness. His grip was warm—firm—youthful.

Leni did not know whose hand had gathered around her own. But something magnetic and strengthening generated in the secret clasp. There was a pressure of palm and fingers which, instinctively, she returned.

"The door behind this box is open," Lucky Cavanaugh leaned forward and said in a low voice. "Let's slip outside and get a breath of air."

And all the while on the screen, Leni Luneska was smiling and laughing. But it was quite a different story in the box. Cavanaugh had made a bold stroke and he knew it would be successful. Leni turned and looked straight into his level, steadfast eyes. For a moment, each probed the other with unwavering gaze.

"I do not know you," she said—but there was no withdrawal of her hand from his.

"Nevertheless, I know you," returned Cavanaugh with a smile, "and that puts us fifty percent of the way home already."

She was aware of an encouraging vitality in his words. They flowed into her heart like balm.

"I detest these pathetic and appealing roles," Leni stated. "And don't try to protect me."

Almost immediately she ceased to be unstrung.

Like all people who have reached a mountain peak she had virtually expended herself in the effort. Stardom and exhaustion were synonymous and now—the return of Karl Kruger! Life, at last, had succeeded in wringing tears from her.

The strong hand holding her own seemed, at this moment, her only grasp on safety.

"I will go with you," she said. She made the statement as though she were about to leap off a precipice—as though it were sheer madness.

One of the side doors of the theatre had been opened for ventilation. Cavanaugh, with his hand under Leni Luneska's elbow, stepped out into the feeble light of a concrete area between the buildings. The man dressed as an usher lurked near the door and, apparently, paid them no attention.

"Smoke!" Cavanaugh offered his cigarette case. The flame of his pocket lighter threw a little glow on her smooth white chin. Leni drew eagerly upon the cigarette and immediately her nervousness seemed relieved. He noticed that her teeth were perfectly even and sparkling; that her lips were warm and sensitive.

"Shall we—promenade?" she said, giving him a bright look from which all distress had been erased. She said it as lightly as though she had not a care in the world.

"We'll do anything you want to do," said Cavanaugh.

He looked down into her clear eyes with a smile. Her head was thrown back a little and she returned his smile with a touch of gaiety. She was unblemished and enchanting. Her soft hair formed a pale golden halo around her face. His common sense told him her smile was a mask—that she was still an actress.

"What I want is quite simple—impossible," Leni said. "Perhaps you are a miracle man. Maybe you know a way to make people brave when their hearts are like water?"

"Don't tell me your heart is like water because I won't believe it," said Cavanaugh. "The excitement tonight probably made you a little nervous."

They had strolled along the area-way to the end and were about to retrace their steps along the sweating concrete. The air was thick with the smell of buildings—a dank contradiction of the buoyancy in Cavanaugh's breast.

"How long before you want to go back inside?" he asked abruptly. "I don't want to go back at all—but I must," said Leni. "All I needed was a cigarette and a breath of air."

But Cavanaugh detected the hollowness in her words. "You are not going back, are you?" he told her succinctly. "I wouldn't consider taking you back until a half hour, at least. You are a very beautiful but groggy young lady."

Leni raised defiant eyes. "I detest these pathetic and appealing roles," she stated. "And don't try to protect me. I am a nice man—but don't spoil it. You caught me off guard for a minute. That does not mean I have placed my life in your hands."

Cavanaugh had heard many people talk with a curdle of aggressiveness in their voices. They had never impressed him as being sincere. But he was not certain now whether Leni Luneska was finding her lost poise, or whether she was still acting.

"Whatever made you think I wanted to protect you?" he asked her lightly.

"Don't you?" "Only against every man—except myself."

"You are like all the others, then?" "Only more so."

Leni sighed. "I suppose I shall have to put up with you." Her small hand inside his arm pressed slightly. "You're a nice man. I think I shall know you better."

"Positively," Cavanaugh assured her.

Treasury May Open Postal Savings for Check Accounts

WASHINGTON—The Treasury Department recently sent telegrams to almost every small town in the United States asking whether its banks were functioning, whether it had proper credit facilities. . . . This was done after various Brain Trusters had hammered home the point that in large sections of the United States there were no banks at all. . . . The Treasury's action is considered one of the most significant monetary moves under the New Deal. . . . If the Treasury is convinced that certain areas are without banks, it might open postal savings for checking accounts. . . . ## Exposure Is A Cause of Myositis

Here Are Some Facts About This Painful Muscular Condition

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

A DISEASE given the name "myositis" sounds like something dreadful. In reality it is no more than a simple inflammation of a muscle. At times it may be extremely painful, but as a rule it runs its course speedily and soon disappears.

The inflammation can be traced to exposure to cold, wet or dampness. It may also be the result of a blow, overexertion and strain, or certain infectious diseases. In rare instances it may be caused by lead, mercury or alcohol poisoning.

The disease is especially common among persons who are susceptible to gouty and rheumatic afflictions. Since the pain is in a muscle, it is often incorrectly called "muscular rheumatism," "neuralgia" or "rheumatics."

Attacks Are Sudden
Myositis may involve any muscle of the body. The pain usually appears during the night or early morning. This is a characteristic sign of this disorder. As a rule, the patient is awakened with great pain and believes he will be unable to get up for work. This story alone is often sufficient to make the diagnosis of myositis.

The sufferer first complains of a dull and aching pain in the afflicted muscle. The attack comes on suddenly, becomes more and more severe and may be almost unbearable. In advanced cases the victim is unable to walk and is confined to bed for several days. Fortunately, most cases are of a mild nature and subside within a few days.

When myositis is severe and prolonged, relief is obtained by gentle massage of the afflicted muscle. The massage should be given twice a day. Though this may cause a certain amount of pain at first, it will bring relief. A good plan is to rub the part with iodine liniment and then apply hot compresses.

Ironing the Skin
Another valuable home remedy is to iron the skin above the painful muscles with a very warm iron. Care must be taken to avoid burning the surface. Place a thick piece of flannel over the inflamed muscle, using this as a protective pad.

In all cases, rest is imperative. While pain is still present, complete rest in bed until the pain entirely disappears will insure complete recovery and help to prevent recurrences.

If you are subject to attacks of myositis make sure you are not harboring some point of infection, such as diseased teeth, tonsils, and sinuses. A careful physical examination is advised for the correction of all underlying disorders.

Careful

Publicly, Henry Ford is holding aloof from the NRA, has refused to sign the auto code. . . . But privately the automobile manufacturer is carefully watching his p's and q's when it comes to abiding by the requirements of the law. . . . Recently, a high official of his company called up the White House, wanted a temporary exemption from certain labor provision of the code to permit rush operations in the production of the new model Ford. . . . The request was denied. . . . Sol A. Rosenblatt, Deputy NRA Administrator in charge of the movie code, has compiled a survey of movie salaries which contains some startling figures. . . . Of the 12,000 persons regularly employed in making films, 51 per cent of the income goes to 466 individuals.

South Dakota's Senator Peter Norbeck, one-time "well digger" and former chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has no objection to the "Truth in Securities" Act, but he thinks it is really unnecessary. . . . Says Norbeck: "Those Wall Street operators picked everybody's pockets so clean there isn't any money left to invest. Even if there were any suckers left." . . . Chunky Bill Green, President of the A. Hurrying to an engagement at 10 o'clock the other evening, Bill decided he needed a shave.

He rushed about downtown Washington looking for an available barber. . . . Finally, he found one; just closing. . . . The barber was reluctant to return to work, but Bill told him who he was, how important it was that he appear at his best. He got the shave.

be available at once in drug stores and sales by the glass will be made in hotels, clubs and restaurants as soon as the commission issues them permits.

Drug stores will be given 60-day permits to dispense package goods at a fee of $50, while the commission is setting up its own liquor stores of which there will be at least one in every county.

Fifteen days must elapse after hotels, clubs and restaurants apply to the commission for liquor per-

BOHNERT VOTES "AYE"

Nathan C. Bohnert, representative to the General Assembly from Pickaway-co, voted for the second conference committee report, adoption of which passed the Mosler-Lawrence bill with the emergency clause.

mits before they can be granted, so legal sale by the glass will be delayed for slightly more than two weeks.

Only by the slim margin of four votes in the house and with not a single vote to spare in the senate did the bill finally emerge from the sea of legislative uncertainty, bearing an emergency clause to make it operative immediately.

After passing the bill the legislature recessed until January 30, when it will return to the capital to take up the big task of revising the state taxation structure.

For a time it appeared quite likely that the necessary 90 votes could not be obtained in the house of representatives to adopt the senate amendments, the equivalent of final passage of the bill, with the emergency clause. Failure to do so would have delayed legal liquor for three months.

But after the report of one conference committee failed to get enough votes to carry the emergency clause, a second conference committee obtained concessions from the administration and from the senate which enabled its report to pass, 94 to 10.

The house held out from the beginning for elimination of the Marshall senate amendment, which postponed sale by the glass until April 1, 1934, and for a reduction of the $6,500 annual salaries for the four liquor commissioners and the executive director recommended by the administration and approved by the senate.

A partial compromise was effected by the first conference committee on the Marshall amendment, by substituting Feb. 5 for April 1, but nothing was done about the salaries. The vote in the house on this report was 73 to 23, or 17 less than enough votes to sustain the emergency proviso. The senate voted to adopt the report, 22 to 6.

Rather than pass the bill and have to wait 30 days for it to become a law, administration leaders sent it back to a second conference committee. This time the objectionable Marshall amendment was eliminated entirely, with the consent of its author, and the four commissioners' salaries were slashed to $4,500, but that of the director was left at $6,500.

Eager to return home for the holidays and at the same time not be charged with depriving the state of legal liquor any longer, the opposition bloc dissolved and enough of its members changed their votes from "no" to "yes" to enable the second conference committee's report to be adopted, 94 to 10. The senate adopted it, 22 to 6.

White had been waiting in the gubernatorial suite to sign the bill at once, but this final act necessary to make it a law was held up until today when Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer, as president of the senate, refused to sign the bill until it had been properly engrossed.

Sawyer promised to sign the bill as soon as it is received back from the state printer, probably before noon. It will then go immediately to the governor for his signature.

In that the bill retained the state monopoly and sale by the glass features its passage was a triumph for the administration, but on the matter of commissioners' salaries the governor was forced to yield.

The advisory liquor commission on whose report the bill was based, suggested $10,000 salaries for three commissioners and for the director, but the senate reduced this to $6,500 each when it made the liquor a bi-partisan four-member group.

Under the bill as enacted the four commissioners actually will receive only $3,900 each and the director $5,600, because the salary reduction features of the lately adopted state employees economy act will apply to them.

The constitutionality of the local option provisions applying to sale by the glass has been questioned by various members of the house and senate. It provides that no liquor by the glass may be sold in districts that voted on Nov. 7 to sustain the state prohibition law, until they first approve it at a special election.

Districts that voted for repeal of the state dry law are eligible for sale by the glass immediately. Several legislators have questioned the legality of binding the districts under the new law by their vote on Nov. 7.

Several members of the house served notice that they would open a fight on the $1 per gallon state tax on all hard liquor when the general assembly reconvenes in January.

They objected to the tax on the grounds that under the monopoly plan the state would be making a profit out of liquor anyway, and contended that, added to the federal tax which they expect to be $2 a gallon, the state tax would make liquor prices so high as to encourage the bootlegger.

64.5 cents per ounce. Stocks and commodity prices rose sharply in response to the new policy, which is one of the principal goals toward which the administration has been working through manipulation of the gold price. Inflationists in congress, led by Senator Elmer Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, were gratified. They held the new silver policy as "a step in the right direction." Even such die-hard anti-inflationists as Senator Carter Glass (D) of Virginia, considered it "one of the least harmful" of the inflationary measures.

The inflationists, while pleased, are not satisfied, however. They plan to press for the complete re-monetization of silver in the coming session, and to put up a fight for the Thomas bill which would impound all gold in the treasury, and through devaluation of the dollar to 50 cents obtain for the government a net profit of about $4,000,000,000.

The dollar is now hovering about 62 cents, measured in terms of foreign currencies. By impounding all the gold in the treasury, and driving down the dollar to 50 cents, through bidding up the gold price to $41.34 per ounce, the administration could issue some $4,000,000,000 of new currency, backed by gold at the revalued price.

The new silver price will not affect the administration's gold-buying policy. Rather the new silver policy and the gold policy will go along in step until the dollar has been devalued to the extent desired, and then presumably pegged. The pegging mark is generally believed to be 50 cents, although the commodity price index is expected to be the determining factor.

Ashville Shows Power, Wins By 22-15 Margin

Young Leads Attack With 10 Points As Tight Defense Keeps Tigers From Bucket as Large Crowd Watches; Kauber Outfit Shows Balance, Strength and Scoring Ability.

Ashville's basketball team, a mighty one, came to town Friday evening to defeat the Red and Black, and not an Ashville fan was disappointed. The big, fast, well-balanced, fighting team coached by Al Kauber was better than the local team in this game and the score ended 22-15 with the county team on the long end.

The C. A. C. gym was crowded. A seven point lead Ashville grabbed in the first period while holding Coach Pete Herberholz's boys scoreless proved exactly the margin of victory.

The contest was hard-fought from start to finish with the Tigers never quitting. Much personal contact was prevalent during the four periods but Ashville showed the correct dash and fight to carry the game their way. At a climax of the personal contact with four and one-half minutes to play, Gaines Hill, Tiger center, was ordered to the sidelines for bumping.

Scoles, Ashville's clever center, too strenuously.

DOZEN FOULS EACH
Twelve personal fouls were called against each team.

Chuck Young, Ashville sophomore, proved the thorn in the side of the locals. This youth, who tossed the leather through the net for a Perry-twop basket last week, during a weak moment, was the big noise of the Ashville victory. He grabbed scoring honors with 10 points before he was forced from the game on fouls. His chief asset was follow shots.

None of the other Ashville boys were far out-shadowed by Young, all coming in for their share of the glory, especially Steinbrook and Morrison, Kauber's excellent defensive pair.

PLEASURE HITS
The only bright spot in the defeat for Circleville was the flash of form shown by Lloyd Leasure in the third period. This youth, failing to reach his form in the early games, crashed through with seven points in the third session and really showed what he can do. Hill was successful in holding Scoles to four points.

As told before, Ashville held a 7-0 lead at the first period. The margin was 13-7 at the half and 19-14 at the third period with the Tigers pulling within three points just before the final session. Kirwin's free throw was the only Red and Black point in the final period. Simmons, of Greenfield, officiated although much to the dissatisfaction of Ashville's Doc Gardner.

C. A. C. CAGERS READY TO GO

Take on Strong Columbus Team in Opener With Laird, Saunders, Casey Stars

Hopeful of hitting a successful stride in its first game in two years, the Circleville Athletic club team tangles with a fast White Hall A. C. club from Columbus Christmas night. The game will start about 8:30 p. m. following a preliminary which starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Whitehall boasts a strong team with Price and Davis at forwards, Laird at center and Casey and Saunders at guards.

The C. A. C. starting lineup is expected to be Steele and Vierebome at forwards, Barnes or Parks at center with Gordon and Merriman at guards. Purcell, Robinson, Zeimer and Jaggy Davis will also be in uniform.

The club cage managers announce there will be free dancing after the basketball contest. The local team will have its final practice on Sunday afternoon.

CONNIE MACK IS 70 YEARS OLD TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Connie Mack is 71 years old today. The venerable manager of the Athletics was swamped with letters and telegrams from all parts of the country congratulating him and wishing him success in the rebuilding of his baseball team.

Mack assured all visitors that he would have a fine team next year despite the loss of Grove, Crehrane, Walberg and Bishop.

PERRY DROPS PICKAWAY-TP

Boys and Girls Win; New Holland Drubs Frankfort; Chillicothe Edged.

Pickaway-twop's basketball teams continued in their losing stride, Friday evening, invading Atlanta to drop two encounters to the Perry-twop team.

The Perry boys were victorious, 16-10, and the girls, 24-10.

Larue officiated. The Scioto-Monroe game played at Commercial Point has not yet been reported.

New Holland took on another out-of-the-county foe, Friday evening, and was returned the victor, 36-21, with Frankfort on the losing end. The game was played at New Holland.

The play of Landman, New Holland center, was outstanding, this athlete, who stands six feet four inches tall, scoring 15 of his team's points.

New Holland girls defeated the Washington C. H. Y. W. C. A. by a 27-14 score and the New Holland seconds made the evening complete by winning, 11-7, from Frankfort's second teams.

Chillicothe, victorious over the Red and Black, 18-12, a week ago, held a strong Marietta team to a 17-16 game Friday evening. The Mariettans were expected to win by a margin larger score, which makes the Tigers look a little better despite their defeat at Ashville's hands.

Shute Is All-American

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 23.—Dennis Shute, British Open champion and conqueror of Johnny Goodman, National Open titleholder in a recent match for the world's crown, today was ranked No. 1 on Gene Sarazen's second annual All-American Big Ten team.

FOOTBALL LETTERS GIVEN TO 18 BOYS

Honors Announced Friday Afternoon; 10 Letter-men Return Next Season.

Football letters were issued, Friday afternoon, by Coach Pete Herberholz to Gaines Hill, Bob Watts, Fred Smith, Norman Coleman, George Davis, Billy Steele, Fred Grant, Thomas Harmon, Lee Cook, James Lyle, Walter Osborne, John Griffith, William Weldon, Louis Baggett, Lawrence Lane, manager, Joe Bell, Russell Sags and George Speakman. William Robison earned a letter but quit school at the end of the football season; the "same" thing applies to Willis Camp.

London high school is the only team, outside the Central Buckeye league, booked so far for the 1934 season.

The two Watts boys, Baggett, Speakman, Coleman, Davis, Grant, Lyle, Osborne, Griffith and Bell were given reserve letters.

ASHVILLE LASSIES ALSO VICTORIOUS

Pauline Reese Led Up-county Girls To 28-8 Victory; Locals Try Hard.

Led by Pauline Reese, whose blonde hair could be seen hither and yon over the entire offensive half of the basketball court, Ashville's girls had little trouble defeating a Circleville aggregation picked from gymnasium classes. The score was 28-8.

Ashville led 12-0 at the first period, 18-3 at the half and 24-8 at the third period.

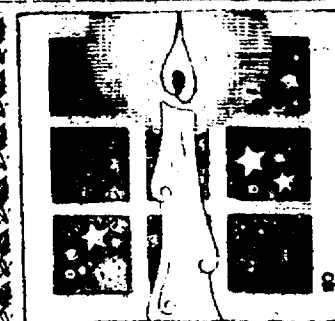

Miss Reese scored eight field goals and a free throw.

Simmons officiated.

DRY GOODS STORE

D. PIERCE FIRST

The firm of D. Pierce was succeeded by Finkel and Howard and it was during this ownership that the late Mr. Jeffries became associated in the business which in later years was to be his own.

After the partnership of Finkel and Howard the firm of Finkel, Schleyer and Henderson served the public and it in turn was followed by J. U. Finkel & Son.

It was in 1910 when the partnership of Jeffries & Colville was formed. Mr. Colville, who entered the store with Mr. Jeffries, was at that time employed by the Second National Bank. During January, 1910, the store was closed during preparations for the opening and from all information available this was the only time during these more than seven years that the store was not open for business.

115 MILLING CO. EMPLOYEES FETED

Eshelman Co. Host at Banquet At Elk's Club; Splendid Evening Enjoyed.

One hundred and fifteen employees of the J. W. Eshelman and Sons Milling Co. enjoyed their second annual banquet, Friday evening, at the Elk's club with the company as host.

Robert D. Musser and John W. Eshelman, Jr., were in charge with Dudley Carpenter acting as master of ceremony introducing Musser and Eshelman and Clinger Rummel for short talks and being in charge of entertainment provided by an accordion player, two comedians, one of whom had an excellent tenor voice. Miss Marv Pickens, this city, accompanied the musicians.

The company's employees, each of whom was given a cash Christmas gift, partook of an excellent turkey dinner prepared by Jimmy Carpenter and his aides.

Mr. Musser in his remarks expressed happiness at the number of attendants being almost double that of last year and expressed hope that next year's list can be double that of this year.

He declared during the social evening that the company has enjoyed a 1933 business 50 per cent greater than last year.
